Mission & Impact

Statements

Mission

Dedicated to connecting generosity with need. Helping people help others through tailored charitable giving.

Background

Founded by a group of civic leaders committed to the idea of creative and meaningful giving, The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee was envisioned as a strong, regional, community-based organization that could promote and facilitate giving. A public charity, we work hard to foster and encourage giving within the 43 counties we serve and on behalf of the broadest range of charitable purposes and charitable organizations. Since our creation in 1991, we have given $795 million in grants to make a difference for this community.

Impact

Our Goals:

- 1) To serve as a leader, catalyst, and resource for giving.
- 2) To build and hold a permanent and growing endowment for the community's changing needs and opportunities.
- 3) To provide flexible and cost-effective ways for individuals, families, and companies to contribute to their community.
- 4) To strive for excellence in grant making that benefits Middle Tennessee in fields such as social services, education, health, the environment, and the arts.

We hope to:

- 1) Increase the number of individuals, corporations and professional advisors who appreciate how we can help them help others.
- 2) Invite people to participate in giving by assuring them that, through The Community Foundation, their gift matters.

Needs

We work hard to look for critical intervention points in the work of local nonprofits, places where our gift will matter most. We do that in large part because we have a personal responsibility to shake every donor's hand and assure them that their charitable giving matters. Every year we are unable to fund good people doing important work in Middle Tennessee.

Our need is to increase giving to our Unrestricted Impact Fund – so we can help our neighbors in need, now and always.

Board Chair Statement

Here's why I love The Community Foundation: It's based on the notion that giving is personal. What I might want to do, might not be what you want to. Animals in need of a home might tug at your heartstrings; I might worry about drugs in the middle schools. Someone else might find great meaning in endowing the historic Nashville City Cemetery; someone else might want to put on plays. I also love the fact that at The Community Foundation, every gift matters. We accept it gratefully. We grow it carefully. We invest it wisely in the needs of our community. We are good stewards of our community's future and present. I hope you will join in our work. Pick your passion. Make a difference. Feel great!

CEO Statement

What The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee does: We connect generosity with need by helping nonprofits, individuals and companies who care, protect the quality of life throughout Middle Tennessee.

Why we do it: Because giving matters. It matters when people with great hearts – whether or not they have great wealth – give to make the path easier for others.

How we do it: By connecting generosity with need. We provide customized services to people and companies to help them give with meaning, confidence and joy. We enable people to give assets of value (e.g. cash securities, land, personal possessions, insurance, etc.) to support the charitable organizations in which they believe.

Programs

Programs

Services for the Community

Description	We build community in new ways, partnering with other funders, non-profits and government to identify and address Middle Tennessee's needs. Regional work on training nurses, GivingMatters.com, www.NowPlayingNashville.com, addressing gun violence, assisting in nonprofit mergers, and paying heating bills for the elderly and disabled are a few of our initiatives.

Services for Givers

Description	We enjoy a unique ability to tailor our work to your charitable goals. Whether you want to address a specific need, endow a specific charitable organization, provide a scholarship, or give to our Unrestricted Impact Fund, we can help. We also enable you to establish the equivalent of a Private Foundation, a charitable nest-egg for you and your children. No matter what you have to give, you can start or add to something special. This flexibility – combined with the information here on GivingMatters.com – can empower you to have an impact on the issues and opportunities you care about most.

Services for Nonprofits

Description

We write three types of grant checks to non-profit organizations: 1) checks that represent the annual payout from endowment funds created to support their work 2) checks that represent gifts from donors (individuals, families or corporations) who ask us to make a grant from their Donor-Advised Funds 3) checks for our annual discretionary grantmaking process. Additionally, we help nonprofits communicate the breadth and depth of the work they do through GivingMatters.com, and our latest online resource, www.NowPlayingNashville.com which includes a community calendar on which nonprofits may share their upcoming events.

CEO Comments

Our goal is to help our community thrive. The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee's work revolves around enabling people to understand the opportunities of our community and to have an impact on the issues they choose. To that end, we help endow the present and future by making giving comfortable, convenient and cost-effective, knowing that without a ready supply of charitable dollars our community will be unable to move quickly to make good things happen. We work to support nonprofits and the people they serve by 1) sending support based on applications we receive from organizations seeking to address emerging needs; 2) accepting and investing gifts to endow the future of specific non-profits and forwarding approximately 5% to them each and every year; and 3) by allowing people who care to set aside money when it makes sense for them in order to use it now and later to support a variety of charitable causes and organizations. We convene collaborations to address opportunities such as our work with United Way of Metropolitan Nashville, the CNM and others to foster and then fund nonprofits working to reduce their administrative costs; or our work with the District Attorney and the Police Department to combat gun violence; with the Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Chamber, the CMA, the Airport and a host of others to help local arts organizations earn income; or with all of the major Funders, through GivingMatters.com, to help donors give with confidence. And we work extensively with individuals, families, corporations and professional advisors to serve as a resource as they explore their options for giving with meaning.

Organization Comments

Because The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee serves as our community's savings account, our numbers look a bit different from many more traditional nonprofit organizations. *We have a small staff that works to educate people who care about a range of giving options -- within and beyond our customized services (and a six-month operating reserve). *We look for opportunities to add value connecting generosity with need through grantmaking, education fiscal agency, etc. *We do not fundraise to cover our expenses -- those are covered entirely by income we earn; although at the request of some donors/committees we do help host events from time to time to endow support for specific charitable purposes.

GivingMatters.com Financial Comments

The significant spike in revenue in 2010 is a result of disaster relief contributions (2010 Middle Tennessee floods).

Beginning in 2010, financial data is taken from the Form 990 and the audit. Prior to 2010, financial figures were taken from the 990 only. Financial documents completed by Kraft CPAs PLLC.
